

FIRST WISCONSIN REGIMENT TAKES OATH TODAY

NO DATE SET FOR TROOPS TO ENTRAIN

COMPANIES FROM BELOIT, MONROE AND WHITEWATER AMONG FIRST TO BE MUSTERED FOR SERVICE.

SOUTH VIA JANESVILLE

Revision of Train Schedule Indicates Badger Guards Will Pass Through This City Within A Few Days.

Camp Douglas, June 28.—The first detachment of the first infantry, consisting of companies from Beloit, Madison, Whitewater and Monroe, will be mustered into the federal service late today as the first infantry organization of the Wisconsin National Guards to take the oath.

Route is Revised.
The troops, when they entrain, will pass through Madison on their way to Camp Douglas, where they will be mustered. This announcement of a revised schedule was made by Major Charles Williams. No date for departure has yet been set.

The first regiment is expected to leave Saturday or Sunday, and possibly earlier.
"A" Battery, Milwaukee, will be mustered in late today or tomorrow morning. The troops will be accompanied by army officers, eliminated from ten to eighteen men per company to form, commanded by Major Glenn Garck of West Salem, to be prepared for the march. General Highway has requested the movement of over 1,000,000 rounds. Over 200,000 rounds are now in the hands of the army.

Receive Orders Today.
Chicago, June 28.—Orders were received today by Major General Thos. E. Barry, in command of the central department of the United States army, for the immediate movement to the border of all units of the Illinois, Kansas and Wisconsin national guard which are "reasonably ready."

The following statement was issued by General Barry's office today: "Orders have been issued directing the dispatch of all units in Illinois, Kansas, Missouri and Wisconsin when ready, in examined and reasonably ready. The Illinois units will go to Brownsville, Texas; the Kansas units to Eagle Pass, Texas; the Missouri units to Laredo, Texas; the Wisconsin units to San Antonio, Texas. Troops will be dispatched whenever reasonably ready."

Plan Daily Marches.
San Antonio, June 28.—Blistered feet and sunburned noses will be prevalent among the national guardsmen under orders, within two days after they reach the border. The hardening process will begin at once. It will continue until they are fit to duplicate the marches made by General Pershing's men on the trail of Villa.

Unless circumstances make it impossible, the marches will be made under conditions such as obtain in active campaign as far as possible. The guardsmen probably will be started on a march of five miles, carrying full kit, and the regulation amount of ammunition. The distance will be increased as the men become in condition, until they are able to cover ten miles.

Equal attention will be paid to conditioning the cavalry and artillery horses, and the pack mules.
Illinois and Wisconsin troops will be in line to march to the border, if it is probable, they are quartered in the camp at Fort Sam Houston, now being used as a citizens' army training camp. The civilian camp will end June 30. The civilian model one, equipped with everything known to military science for health and comfort of these men.

Watch Point Negras, opposite Eagle Pass, are being closely watched by staff officers. General Pershing's Murguia has a strong force ready for use. In addition to the three batteries of field artillery which left for Eagle Pass last night, there are two regiments of infantry, and one battery of field artillery already there. It is known that several large national guard units will be shipped through to Eagle Pass at once.

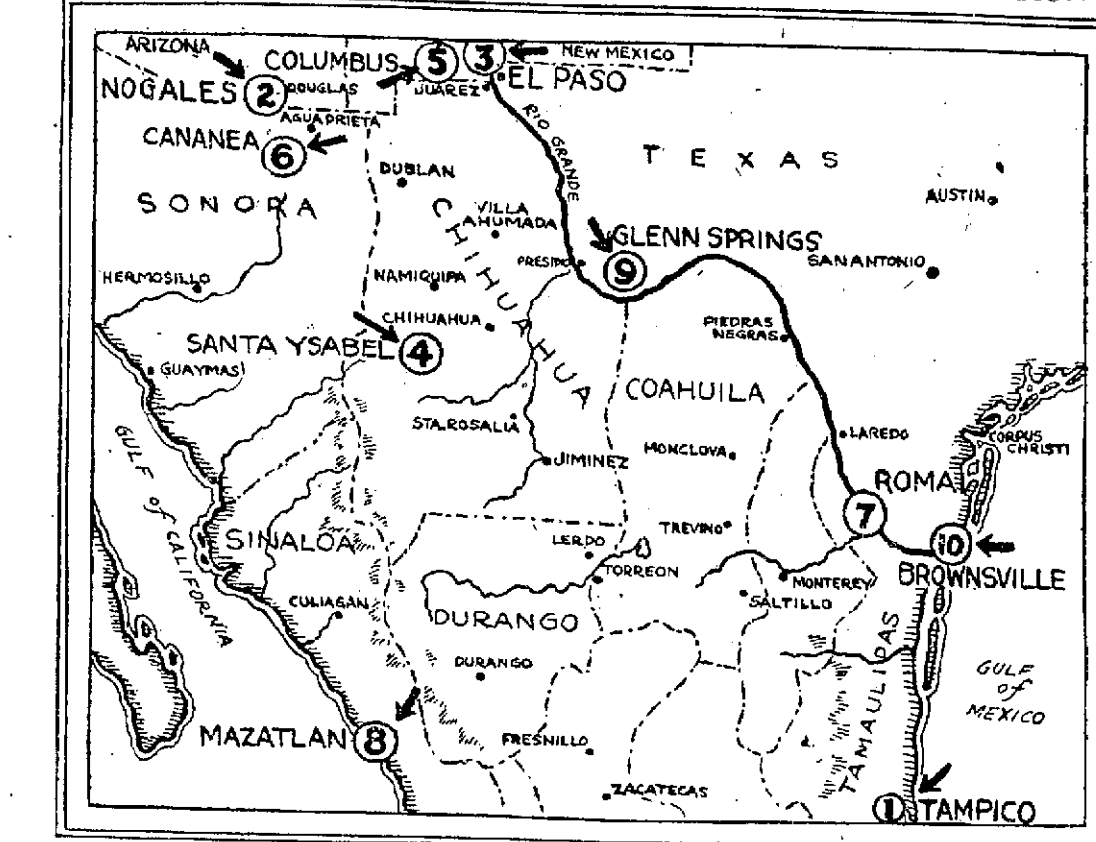

Arrangements are being made today for a central Red Cross supply station here which will care for the eastern section of the American line. The western section will be supplied from a depot in El Paso.

Halt Illinois Musterling.
Springfield, Ill., June 28.—Lieutenant Colonel H. Lewis, chief of the musterling staff here, received a telegram today from General Barry, commander of the central department. The order directed him to halt the musterling of the Illinois units at once, and to take an immediate inventory of units already mustered. This is considered the last step preceding actual entrainment of the troops for the Mexican border.

Connecticut Troops Off.
Hartford, Conn., June 28.—All the Connecticut troops ordered to the Mexican border were moving south today with the exception of one troop company, which will remain in camp for the present because of lack of equipment. The last contingent left yesterday.

Kansas Guards Ready.
Burlington, Kan., June 28.—The troops with which the Kansas National guards moved to the border are present entirely upon the railroads. The state adjutant general of the state said today:
"The Missouri National guard encamped here will move for the border in response to Major General Barry's orders, before tomorrow night or Friday."

TEN REASONS WHY MANY AMERICANS WANT INTERVENTION

The accompanying map shows some of the places where outrages against the American flag and American citizens have been committed by Mexicans during the last three years.
It is impossible to illustrate more than merely the location of these crimes, as they have been too widespread to keep track of in entirety, even were the extent of them known. But among the principal causes of the present American-Mexican crisis are the following:
1.—Unarmed American crew were ashore at Tampico dying American flag. They were arrested and afterward released with an apology. But the salute to the flag demanded by President Wilson never was given.
2.—Mexicans raid Nogales. Three United States soldiers killed.
3.—Great influx of American refugees at El Paso and other border cities. Shots exchanged across boundary. Troops called to repel invaders.
4.—Nineteen Americans killed at Santa Ysabel.
5.—Kaid led by Villa on Columbus, N. M., army post. Seventeen Americans, including seven soldiers, killed. Mexican flag on Consul W. A. Julian's office in Cananea ridiculed by Mexican bullets.
6.—Six shots fired at Troop M, Third cavalry, by Mexicans hidden in brush at Roma, Texas.
7.—Gen. Flores, Carranza governor of Sinaloa, refuses to permit Americans to leave Mazatlan. Clash between bluejackets and Mexican soldiers. American boatswain's mate I. M. Lawler seriously wounded.
8.—Glenn Springs, Tex., raided by Mexican band; American soldiers and civilians killed and two Americans carried away as prisoners.
9.—Attacks on Brownsville, Red House Ferry, Progresso postoffice, and Las Peladas.

CARRANZA CHARGES AMERICAN SOLDIERS WITH DEPREDATIONS

Claims Column of 3,000 American Troops Mistreated Mexican Citizens—Demands Officers be Punished.

Washington, June 28.—A note protesting against outrages on Mexican citizens, alleged to have been committed by an American force 3,000 strong marching from San Geronimo toward the border, was sent to the state department today by Eliseo Arrascaeta, Mexican ambassador designate, on instructions from the Carranza foreign office.
Claim Citizens Mistreated.
Vigorous complaint against the alleged arrest and mistreatment of 200 civilians at La Cruz is reported in the note, with a request that the officers responsible be punished and steps taken to prevent a recurrence of such an incident.
Apache scouts with the Americans were charged with brutal treatment of the people in the line in the note, which was signed by the state department to prevent a recurrence of such an incident.

Apache scouts with the Americans were charged with brutal treatment of the people in the line in the note, which was signed by the state department to prevent a recurrence of such an incident.
Dispatch from Rogers.
No official intimation had reached the state department early today as to whether or how Carranza's reply to the American note. An overland dispatch from Special Agent Rogers at Mexico City brought only the information that a special car left yesterday for Vera Cruz carrying seventeen Americans.

The message, containing but two sentences, was the first word the state department had heard from Mr. Rogers since he reported the delivery of the note. He said it was believed the Mexican authorities were investigating the Carranza claim, but gave no indication of what would be the reply to the American demand.
Regarded as Crucial Day.
This was regarded by Washington officials as the crucial day in negotiations with Carranza. It was probably the last day allowed Carranza, which to comply with the United States' demands for the release of twenty-three troops held as prisoners at Chihuahua. Carranza's reply by act or a communication direct, or not, arrived by tonight, or if it is unsatisfactory, President Wilson is determined to go before congress, probably tomorrow, and ask authorities to rescue the prisoners by force.
Unofficial reports stated that Carranza's reply was on its way to Washington, having been dispatched from Mexico City last night.

May Settle Crisis.
New York, June 28.—Romulo S. Naon, Argentine ambassador to the United States, issued a statement here today in which he said that while he made no offer of mediation, looking to the settlement of the differences between the United States and Mexico, he was "in candid confidence that the present crisis will be equitably settled."

HUGHES AND TEDDY TO DINE PRIVATELY

Republicans See Love Feast When Roosevelt and Presidential Candidate Meet Tonight.

New York, June 28.—Republican politicians looked forward with interest today to meeting tonight between Charles E. Hughes and Theodore Roosevelt, when the republican "residential nominee and the man who, as head of the progressive party, endorsed his candidate will dine together. It was announced, however, their meeting would be a "private and personal one," and that no statement would be forthcoming as to the subject they may discuss.

PERMIT HALF FARE FOR THE REFUGEES

On Petition of Government Some of Railways Allow Cut Rates for Persons Escaping Mexico.

Washington, June 28.—The state department has requested railroads to grant American refugees from Mexico half fare rates from ports at which they are landed to their homes. Some of the railroads have already consented.

TWO KILLED IN OUTRAGE AT HACHITA

SLAYERS OF AMERICAN RANCHER AND HIS WIFE PURSUED INTO MEXICO BY COWPUNCHERS.

MAY MOVE ON NOGALES

United States Sentry Bars Mexican Soldiers Who Would Cross Boundary—Will Cross Border if Fired Upon.

Columbus, June 28.—Army officers here are investigating a report that the murderers of William Parker and his wife on their ranch southwest of Hachita, were caught early today on this side of the border, and killed. The report had not been verified.
A message received by a relative of the Parkers said the bandits, six in number, were wiped out.
It was reported today that while employees of the Diamond Ranch, a few miles east of Hachita, were helping hunt the slayers of the Parkers, the ranch was raided last night and a number of horses taken.
Cowpunchers of the diamond A and U-bar outfits, today sent a courier to Hachita with news that they had located the slayers of the Parkers, and were following them into Mexico. It was feared that fresh complications may arise from the venture as cowpunchers probably are well into the interior by this time.
Six Mexicans were arrested in Hachita today on suspicion of being implicated in the Parker killing and are being held pending investigation. It is believed however, they are guiltless.
Nogales, Ariz., June 28.—American occupation of Nogales, Sonora, looked close early today when eight Mexican soldiers were driven back by a United States sentry post as they tried to cross to the American side.

The Mexicans withdrew and Major Wm. Brooke, stationed in the immigration office on International Street, ordered his men to drop anybody who was acting suspiciously. If a shot comes from over there, we'll go straight across."
The attempt of the Mexicans was made at midnight. Just west of the sentry post, a volley of shots came from the sentry post stationed where there had been no post previously. The Associated Press correspondent, riding for seventy miles behind the line, found the same regular pounding of positions on both days, whether in the Sonoran regions or along the Viny ridge.

Going to a point on high ground which allowed a broad sweep in a rolling country, the sentry post, the correspondent found the horizon always bounded by shell bursts. There might be a lull at one point for a while, but soon the infernal in that direction was renewed.
Under cover of the bombardment the British made a number of trench raids last night, bringing in groups of prisoners. The British used gas at certain points, but discontinued this when the weather was found to be unfavorable.

BRITISH BOMBARD GERMAN POSITIONS ON 70 MILE FRONT

Continue Violent Attacks in the Somme Region—French Claim Gains in Verdun Sector.

Indianapolis, June 28.—Charles Evans Hughes, Republican candidate for President, while on the Supreme bench uttered opinions "that stamp him as being favorable to restriction of the liquor traffic," according to Wayne B. Wheeler, of Washington, D. C., general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League of America, in an address to the seventh convention of that organization.
"The courts," said Mr. Wheeler, "have gradually come to the conclusion that legislation necessary to enforce statutes will be upheld, if the original statute prohibiting the evil was legal. Justice Hughes speaking for the Supreme Court laid down this principle: 'It is well established, said the justice, that when a state exercises its recognized authority under takes to suppress what it is free to regard as a public evil, it may adopt measures having reasonable relation to that end, as it may deem necessary in order to make its action effective.'"
Mr. Wheeler asserted that the burden of proof should be on the courts, state and federal, was against the liquor traffic. This will safeguard the public health and morals, and protect the wealth and happiness of the people. It will insure the perpetuity of a great nation, a power ordained of God to advance civilization."

YOUNG BRIDE FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER

Bride, Sixteen Years of Age, Is Found Guilty of Murder and Gets Five Years.

Fort Worth, Tex., June 28.—Mrs. Katherine Vance Harrison, sixteen-year-old bride of Charles Harrison, was found guilty of murder by a jury in circuit court today and sentenced to five years imprisonment. Mrs. Harrison admitted killing W. L. Vance, a hotel proprietor, but accused him of having despoiled her of her virtue when she was a child. She married Harrison, a nephew of the United States Senator and Mrs. Charles A. Culbertson of Texas, two days after the killing.

CHICAGO FIRMS TO SUPPLY ARMY MEAT

Large Meat Contract to Supply U. S. Army in Mexico Is Let to Chicago Packing Houses.

Chicago, June 28.—Chicago packing houses have closed contracts with the army to supply 1,500,000 pounds of meat for the army. It was learned today. Already the packers are preparing to carry out the contracts. A Buffalo, N. Y., packer also received an order for 1,400,000 pounds of corn beef packed in two pound cans is to be sent at once from Chicago to San Antonio, according to an order, and an order for 240,000 pounds of bacon as emergency rations, to be shipped in crates, went to another stockyard firm.

MARINES ON MARCH TO DOMINGO VILLAGE

Expect No Opposition From Natives as Sea Soldiers Make Inland March.

Washington, June 28.—Rear Admiral Caperton at Santo Domingo, advised the naval department today that Colonel Pendleton, with a considerable force of marines, was marching eighty miles overland from Puerto Plata, to occupy Santiago and Lavata, interior Dominican cities. Rebel opposition was not anticipated. Co-part of the republic, the revolutionists making no serious efforts to interfere with the American expedition plans for restoring order on a stable basis.

PLenty OF SUPPLIES FOR ARMY AVAILABLE

Food, Clothing and Materials Can Be Obtained by the Government in Short Space of Time.

Washington, June 28.—War department officials believe they have perfected arrangements by which ample supplies of food, equipment and clothing will be provided for all troops called into federal service, no matter how great the number may be, according to Secretary Baker.

The only difficulty so far experienced has been in obtaining a sufficient number of motor trucks of a certain type preferred by army officials for border use. Plenty of trucks of proper size and power, but of different designs, are immediately available.

CALL IS SENT FOR LICENSED AVIATORS FOR ACTIVE SERVICE

Chicago, June 28.—A call to licensed aviators to volunteer for service in the army in anticipation of a federal call for their services, was sent out today from the headquarters of the Aerial Club of Illinois.

GRILLING OF ORPET IS CONTINUED TODAY BY ATTORNEY JOSLYN

Young Collegian Facing Murder Charge Is Closely Questioned About "Dope" Bought for Lambert Girl.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Waukegan, June 28.—With a close shave and an application of talcum powder, Will H. Orpet looked paler than ever when his cross examination was resumed today. He is charged with the murder of Marian Lambert, the schoolgirl sweetheart. He was grilled all day yesterday by Attorney David R. Joslyn. The latter said it was doubtful if he could finish today. Mr. Joslyn asked questions concerning a letter written by Orpet at Madison to Marian on December 15 last. "Did she return a letter to you unopened about that time?" asked Mr. Joslyn.
"Not then nor at any other time," replied Orpet.
He denied he had ever asked Charles Haggins, a Madison drug clerk, for assistance.
"And didn't you say to Haggins that none of them were large enough?" pursued Mr. Joslyn.
"No."
The young collegian, who was weak and nervous when court adjourned yesterday, seemed refreshed, although he quickly fell into his habitual posture—sunt low in his chair and his chin resting on his hand.
"Was anything said about bringing down any dope for her?" asked Joslyn.
"I may have, but I don't remember."
"Now in connection with talk about the dope, isn't it probable that her condition was talked about?"
"I have no recollection on the subject."
The questions all through were often repeated persistently by Mr. Joslyn, trying to elicit further details. "Was anything said about bringing down any dope for her?" asked Joslyn.
"I may have, but I don't remember."
"Now in connection with talk about the dope, isn't it probable that her condition was talked about?"
"I have no recollection on the subject."
The questions all through were often repeated persistently by Mr. Joslyn, trying to elicit further details.
Although Orpet denied recollecting whether or not there had been talk of dope, merely admitting that there might have been, Mr. Joslyn asked: "Now was it before or after the dope was mentioned, that you asked to see her?"
"Probably before, if any mention of dope was made."
"Why before?"
"Because that would have been the logical place to have said it."
"But you are not asking the logical place, but for the fact."
"Well I told you I couldn't remember. This is just conjecture."
Marian having said she could not see don't remember, Orpet started for his home. Mr. Joslyn attempted his questions to follow him step by step. Defendant said his home was on Cyrus McCormick's estate, of which his father was superintendent. His trip being a secret one, however, he did not go home, but to the garage.
"How far is it from the railroad station to the estate?"
"About two and a half miles."
"How long did it take you?"
"I don't know."
"You stepped quickly? It was cold?"
"The roads were bad, probably I walked slowly."
"Did you leave the road at any time?"
"No, sir."
"Did you meet anyone?"
"A few automobiles—no one that I knew."
"Was your coat collar turned up?"
"No, it was too early and I was afraid my parents or one of them would be moving about."
The study desk was a friend of yours. Were you afraid he would see you?"
"Not afraid, but I thought it would be better if he didn't."
"Did you wait five minutes to get Orpet to admit he was afraid to be seen by the chauffeur, but he declined. He walked about for a time, and then went to the garage, where he spent the night, he said."

H. C. BUELL GETS PLACE AT DELAVAN

JANESVILLE SCHOOL OFFICIAL NAMED BY STATE BOARD AS DELAVAN SUPERINTENDENT.

FIFTEEN YEARS IN CITY

Has Fostered Great Advance in Local School System—Active in Wisconsin Educational Circles.

Superintendent H. C. Buell of the Janesville public school system has been appointed by the state board of control as superintendent of the Wisconsin School for the Deaf at Delavan. Mr. Buell will assume his duties on August 1st, taking the position held by E. W. Walker, who has been at the institution for fourteen years.

Mr. Walker tendered his resignation to the board during the past week. At their meeting it was considered and accepted. Seeking an individual who would continue the work of the former superintendent, the board decided upon Mr. Buell. The board, Mr. Buell informed him of their choice and he accepted. His resignation is in the hands of President Buckmaster of the local board of education. It reads as follows:

To President Dr. S. B. Buckmaster and the Honorable Board of Education, Janesville, Wisconsin:
Gentlemen:—On August 1st, 1901, I entered upon the duties of the office of superintendent of schools of the city of Janesville. During the past fifteen years, I have tried to give the educational life of this city the best efforts and powers of leadership that I possess. The advancement that has been made during these years is due, in large measure, to the wise and hearty co-operation which you have shown at all times, and to the faithful cooperation of the corps of teachers and splendid body of students. The citizens of Janesville, and the mayor and council too, are to be credited with having supported with keenest appreciation the advancement which expanding educational ideals have brought about. My relations with the board, as well as with the teachers, the student body, and the community, have been more than pleasant—they have been most cordial.
After these many years of service, in which I have been a part of the process to sever them, but in the presence of a new opportunity for service to those who need service most, and an advanced education for my children, with the added expense incident thereto; I hereby tender my resignation as superintendent of your schools, effective as of August 1st, 1916.
Very respectfully yours,
H. C. BUELL, Superintendent of Schools.

Mr. Buell's appointment is the culmination of many years' activity in educational circles of the state and his deserved promotion is no surprise to exponents of education or his many friends in Janesville.

Held Office Long Time.
Mr. Buell, since 1901, has been affiliated with the Janesville schools and under his able direction and supervision, with the assistance of an educational staff, has done much to do the best for coming generations. He has made an enviable record. Until two years ago he was both superintendent of the city schools and principal of the high school. He was elected to the board to relieve him of a portion of his duties which annually were growing greater and the board directed him to make a study of the principal of the high school while Mr. Buell continued as school superintendent.

As a lover of children concerned in the ultimate welfare of the nation, no individual in Janesville has been more prominently than Mr. Buell. Thrown constantly into their companionship through his daily duties and always ready to extend his sympathetic appreciation and love of the men and women of tomorrow, he has served the city nobly as the active head of its public educational organization.

Fortified New Ideas.
In the interests of the school system Mr. Buell has introduced and fostered many strong features which at the present time make Janesville schools stand out prominently among those of Wisconsin cities.
Two years after coming here, in 1903, he proposed the establishment of a kindergarten system. It is now an efficient and a great factor in the primary division.
At the present time the Janesville high school has probably the largest agricultural course of any high school in the state. Beginning with a one year course, the study proved so attractive and brought such a large number of farm pupils to the city that the course was extended over the full four years. Twenty-five students are now engaged in the study of efficient and better farming. Mr. Buell advised this addition to the curriculum.

When he came to Janesville the doctored science and manual training courses were but immature in the curriculum with but a single teacher in each and few students electing the courses. Additional manual training suggested by the superintendent and principal soon enlarged the classes each fall until now three teachers are required to instruct the pupils in each course. Likewise, under his direction, the commercial course has been enlarged.

Backed Vocation Training.
Mr. Buell also introduced manual training and vocational science training for the pupils of the seventh and eighth grades of the lower schools. He recommended the establishment of the industrial school and under its guidance wanted it expanded into a corps of instructors. C. F. Hill is now head of the industrial school.

TWO DEPARTMENTS SHOW BIG SAVING DURING PAST YEAR

Superintendent of Public Property and State Printing Office Work Effectively For Economy.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Madison, Wis., June 27.—In spite of advances in the prices of materials during the last year, the savings produced by the Phillip administration are demonstrated by the first two departments to issue reports for the fiscal year under Governor Phillip, ending June 30.

In the department of the superintendent of public property the net saving for the year is $45,094.08. The new printing board has saved $10,000 in one year.

Common knowledge that paper advanced in price more than any other single commodity during the year covering the fiscal year. All paper materials are higher. Some of the purchases made showed advances of 50 per cent. As a result every item which the state had to buy cost more than double what it did a year ago.

Tabulated figures for the department of public property show the following savings:

	1914-15	1915-16	Saving
Operation	$151,674.31	$135,744.56	$15,929.75
Maintenance	5,720.81	2,481.99	3,238.82
Permanent property	1,514.85	3,030.44	14,815.59
Revolving fund	$267,734.79	$222,040.62	$45,694.08
Totals	$267,734.79	$222,040.62	$45,694.08

It will be seen that the saving is general. The spirit of economy which characterized the Phillip administration is not confined to one department, although in some cooperation has not been so pronounced as in others. With prices going up purchases have been kept down to necessities as far as possible, but no department has been curtailed in the slightest respect. The savings in this department afford a striking example of what can be done for the taxpayers if the effort is made.

The saving of $80,680.32 by the printing board for the fiscal year has been made possible through the system of avoiding duplication and the printing of unnecessary quantities of printing ordered. Copy has been carefully read and the result has been that many volumes were cut in half without losing anything from the text. When the new printing board took hold there was a feeling that copy compared could not be changed, but some of the authors of reports and other state documents have come to be the printing board's first aids in this direction. In nearly all departments the printing bills are smaller this year in spite of the cost of raw material and in nearly all of them the board had cooperation.

Tabulated figures show that for the fiscal year 1914-15 all state departments spent $216,735.03 for printing. When the bill was before the legislature which established the new printing board, those who favored it declared that at that time prices of paper had not gone up. The board was established, and in spite of advanced prices the statement for the fiscal year 1915-16 shows the cost of printing for all state departments is $130,747.20.

JANESVILLE'S COMPANY.

Forty-four young men have thus far signed their intention of joining in a petition to the governor for the establishment of a militia company in this city. They showed their civic pride and their interest in the matter of preparedness by placing their names on the lists which are now in the hands of the mayor to be forwarded to the governor as soon as the required number, sixty-five, is obtained.

The mass meeting held at the city
hall last evening was well attended.
Only the spirit of patriotism appeared to run stronger in the younger generation than in the younger.
Men who shouldered guns in the Sixties, young men who went out in Ninety-eight, were in evidence, as were other citizens who had been members of the various companies that Janesville has had in the past.

The young men of today, however,
seemed a bit "gun" shy, as it were,
of stepping to the front and signing
up for the organization of a militia
unit that would be a credit to the city and the state. However, they will doubtless avail themselves of the opportunity later and the total number of signatures needed will be obtained in a few days and the petition forwarded to the governor for his consideration.

In almost every city in the state extra militia companies are being organized to take the place of the regular state guard that is being called out. In Madison two companies, one with over seventy-seven signers, and the other with a hundred, have been organized. Milwaukee has two new companies and is still recruiting for those already in state camp.

Ripon has petitioned the national government to use the money appropriated for their new federal building
for equipping the militia of the country and enthusiasm runs riot in every other town that has one company already in the field in organizing a second if needed.

There is no question but Janesville
will have a company organized here and it is up to the young men el-ligible between eighteen and thirty-five to make it a possibility. If older men could enlist the ranks would be filled with ease, but the law is strict on the age and so it is the younger generation that must come to the front at this time.

MUNITIONS FOR OUR ARMY.

"With its usual capacity for drawing the wrong inference, the intelligence department at Berlin has permitted the German newspapers to break into open rejoicing over our entanglement with Mexico. It is claimed that this will hold up our supply of munitions to the allies, and thereby enable Germany to win the war," says
the Wall Street Journal.

"Supposing an American expeditionary force of even 250,000 men, what difference would that make, in what alone, to the Westinghouse Co.,
for instance, which is manufacturing rifles for the allies? With something like 15,000,000 men under arms in Europe, our military necessities
are almost negligible, even if it were not a fact that the allies themselves have had time to increase enormously their means of procuring munitions. In the trade here, in fact,
the complaint is of a falling-off in orders,
rather than any pressure for the needs of our own government. These can be handled with the greatest ease and without material effect upon the export business.

"Why then does Berlin, with that international tactlessness exhibited in such astonishing degree in its dealings with this country, openly rejoice
at our embarrassment? It is that,
among the many devices used to fool
the American public, none has been more popular than the plea that the allies held their own only by the aid of American munitions. The Crown Prince of Wurtemberg, in fact, told an American correspondent last year that 50 per cent of his casualties were caused by American shells and this at a time when not a single American shell had been fired in Europe, as the records prove. We speak of 'an officer and a gentleman,' but as lying is discouraged among our officers, this seems a case for speaking merely of an officer and a prince.

"And in this connection may it be suggested that to tax war profits, as the democratic party proposes, is at this time about the most astute thing that their emblematic jackass ever attempted. A comparison. Anything that would tie the hands of the soldiers who are trying to get us out of the Mexican mess which the present administration so largely created,

would be a folly calculated to hold
us up to the ridicule of the world."

SEEKERS FOR REST.

Most people speak of going away
for a rest in summer, but few people want it or really rest it. They are of course some who have been living lives of strain, who want simply quiet
and are sensible enough to get it.
They pick some quiet cottage or boarding place in a remote country town or in the woods, and absolutely shut themselves off from the world.
If they are fond of nature and scenery
they have a glorious time. The beauty of God's world and the study of the plants and the flowers afford abundant mental occupation for such.

But most of us are not built that way. We need rest and refreshment, but our lives have become habituated to intense activity. We want to be doing things, competing with other people, and accomplishing results. So when we get to a so-called rest place in the woods, we tramp through long hamlets, roads, climb mountains, or play laborious games, and often acquire lame muscles that clog our footsteps
for the rest of the outing.

We visit great bars called summer houses. When we want and need to sleep, the roisterers are tearing the vitals out of the piano in the parlor until a late hour at night. If you complain at the office, you are politely informed that the matter will be attended to. But few hotels ever interfere with the doings of paying guests. A hotel would rather acquire the reputation of being noisy, than the name of being without gaiety and young life.

You can tell very little about a summer hotel by the circular cut.
Better inquire of your friends who is just the kind of place you would like. Above all, people who are used to indoor life and sedentary work should beware of arduous muscular exercise. If they are really determined on mountain climbing and extensive hiking, let them get into training six weeks before vacation begins, and the exercise will then do them some good.

SUMMER IN THE CHURCHES.

Commenting on the common sight
of church doors closed in vacation,
with the pastors at cool summer resorts, it is often remarked that the devil never takes a vacation. At the same time, the youngster who is held rigidly down to Sunday school at a period when the day schools are resting, does not feel any more friendly
toward the ideas the church stands
for.

When a boy remarked, "We have a very kind minister at our church, who preaches short sermons on hot Sundays," the old folks laughed, but felt that he had hit a real truth.
The Roman Catholic, Episcopal, and many other churches still keep open doors in the summer, without teasing
people to go if they don't feel like it.
Thereby they show their readiness to serve without officiousness. To many the cool silence and peace of the sanctuary is more pleasant and more restful than the speed of the motor or the tumult of the bleachers.

They are talking of having 15,000
school boys of New York take military training on Staten Island this summer. They will get good practice in terrific mass attacks on the fruit trees of the suburbs.

The European powers have not yet
ruled that all salt water is a war zone,
but no doubt they will attend to that before long.

It is the business of our politicians to uphold the candidate for congress until he gets elected, after which to hold him up for an office.

In reading the war news, it is hard to know whether a miscellaneous collection of letters is a Galician city or merely a typographical error.

The rice throwers at the June weddings are very oblivious to the necessity of conservation of our food supply.

Gen. Carranza does not care what position our government takes on the border troubles so long as it suits
him.

Europe's ghastly idea of the "Back to the Soil" movement is burying about five thousand good men every day.

It is not true that the law against publishing information about lotteries
applies to weather news.

It is not necessarily a sign of mourning even if the women do wear their skirts at half mast.

The American roast spring lamb dinner is perfectly safe so long as the goat supply keeps up.

The German war bread is said to leave a rye taste in the mouth.

The Daily Novelette

THE MAN WITH THE BASKET.

—It takes a certain amount of wisdom for a man to realize what a fool
he is.—Prof. Simp.

The great detective was idly smoking a pipeful of snuff leaves and looking out his chamber windows,
when a man in the street a man shuffled past with a heavy basket on his head.
"An' heh," thought the great detective, "that basket is made of powdered baobab, the only place powdered baobab
ware comes from is Tishalook, Japan.
That man is Kiyi, the famous Oriental burglar."
And, without even taking time to polish his great detective rushed down stairs and opened the man with the basket, he clapped a pair of handcuffs on his wrists and a job-strap on each foot.
"You're pearls are in that basket,"
he said calmly.
"You're pretty smart, but you ain't that smart," replied the man with the basket. "I am Salidday Spigot, the Hungarian thug, and if you'll take the trouble to look, you will find that this basket contains the rubies that were stolen from the Countess Pazaz
last Thursday morning at Millins'
grocery store."
The great detective, though with a doubting smile, looked, and found that the man's words were true.
"Oh, pepsin," he muttered, and took back his handcuffs, and jobs, and went back to finish his smoke.

Information From Railroad Officials Indicates Badger Troops Will Go to Texas City.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Madison, Wis., June 28.—Information received from railroad officials indicates that the Wisconsin troops may be moved to El Paso, Texas, as soon as they have been mustered in. An interesting discovery has been made regarding the transporting of troops
some of the lines only a 50 per cent
fare need be paid by the government.
This is because the federal government made large land grants in the early days to the railroads and stipulated in these laws that United States
troops were to be carried at half fare.
There are some railroads in this state
where troops must be carried free.

The Old-Time Campaign.
There used to be fun in the olden days.

When they had the real live campaign.
When the boys wore the oilcloth uniforms

And marched in the pouring rain;
When they carried the torches and gay flambeaux

And moved in a mighty line;
When the red fire burned for miles
and miles.

Down when the nights were
fine.
They marched in true military style.
As if they were bound for war.

And nine out of ten didn't really know
Just that they were marching for the cause of the trappings of gallants.

One night they would march as Republicans.
With plumes in their bright tin hats,
And the next night as Democrats.

MILTON JCT. WINS
THE FIRST ANNUAL
COUNTY RELAY RACE

Sixty-Eight Boys of County Run in
First Annual County Relay Race
This Morning.
Milton Junction's Young Men's Christian Association group won first honors in the first annual Rock County relay race this morning, in which sixty-eight boys took part. The Junction team made the record time, the average per mile being two minutes and fifty seconds flat. Rock Prairie came in close second with a difference of only one second. Orfordville landed third place and Shopiere came in last.

The relay race was the first of its kind ever held in the state of Wisconsin and it proved to be a great success. The morning day's race was very close. The difference in time for the winning team
and the last one is seven seconds
which makes a remarkable record.
The event was made the auspices of the Rock County Young Men's Christian Association. A local committee made up of H. S. Lovejoy, R.
K. Overton, A. C. Gardner, and L. A.
Marshall made arrangements for the race. The participating communities worked hard on their end.
The Association appreciate very much
the following men: F. J.
McFarland, R. K. Overton, R. K. Overton, Rev. A. J. Kvale, Harry Silver-thorn, Orfordville; D. Hinkley, S. M.
Warner, Milton Junction; R. K. Overton, Shopiere.

At eleven o'clock the first team arrived at the City Hall and delivered a message to Mayor James A. Fathers.
Orfordville was the first to arrive, followed by the Rock Prairie man.
Milton Junction arrived next, and a short time after Rock Prairie.
The averages per mile were made out according to the number of men running and the number of miles they had to cover. The Milton Junction team covered seven miles and had fourteen men on their team. Shopiere thirteen boys and six and a half miles to cover; Rock Prairie, fourteen boys and seven miles to cover, and Orford-ville thirteen boys and six and a half miles to cover.

The messages delivered to Mayor
Fathers contained greetings to Mr.
Fathers and to the city of Janesville.
A relay race of this sort will now be an annual event and next year it is expected that many more of the County groups will join.
At two o'clock this noon a dinner was served to the members of the teams and the committees at the local Young Men's Christian Association.
A program as arranged was giving and all things pointed out that to day's event was a grand success.
S. Lovejoy presented the Milton Junction team with the banner after giving an interesting address. Mayor Fathers was present at the dinner and gave an address. The Hot of Orford-ville also gave an address. Following are the records of the team entered in the race:

Team	Time	Average
Milton Junction	38:00	2:50
Rock Prairie	39:00	2:52
Orfordville	37:30	2:53
Shopiere	28:30	2:57

Gotch, champion wrestler, mixed boxing with boxing against Frank Slavin, the veteran ringman in the Yukon, is a story told here for the first time.

Slavin, who has grown much grayer than he appeared twenty years ago as a ring favorite, is now in England
with the latest Canadian contingent.
His little mix with Gotch happened
many years ago when Gotch, under the name of Ketchikan, was at Dawson
in the Yukon trying to fix up wrestling matches when everybody wanted to see prize fights.

Heve today Slavin staged the story
with Jack London's set-back—grit-ted fighters looking through blue or bacco smoke at the ring in Dawson's main emporium. Gotch, failing in wrestling matches, agreed to take Slavin on for a ten round bout.

"In the first two rounds he came at me strong," related the old soldier-fighter. "I floored him two or three times. Then in the third round he dodged in and before I knew what was happening he gripped me around the waist and threw me up in the air."

"I laughed, the referee laughed, and in fact we all laughed. The referee said: 'Do you claim a foul?'"

"I said: 'Well, if I don't I suppose I'll never be able to come back into the ring again, so, of course, I got the decision. But I got more money out of the fight than I ever got for his wrestling bouts up there.'"

Slavin just now is delighting British sporting writers with his remisances. They flock to the military camp where Slavin's regiment is waiting for the call to France.

In Slavin's 34 years he has been a pioneer in the Yukon, a bush and the Klondike as well as a prize
prize ring favorite in England, America, Australia and Alaska. Before he was eighteen he had made $12,000 in the Australian gold fields.

He then came to England and closed
five years of boxing with his defeat of Peter Jackson.

Then he went to America and drifted into the prize ring lightweight by knocking out Jake Ryan in less than a round. San Francisco was the next stop.

Those were the days before the big strike on the Yukon, said Slavin
today, "but I decided to take the trip
there through British Columbia. When I arrived in Alaska, my partner and I staked a claim on the Forty Mile river and I started for the gold—400
miles over the ice behind a dog team—
to get a guarantee for the concession."

I got the concession and they gave me the official mail to carry back to the government at Yon. The concession is still working today. In fact it has a hydraulic plant capable of handling 15,000 cubic yards a day."

Slavin related the cutting of the White Pass trail from the summit of White Pass to Lake Bennett in the Yukon. When he returned home his wife had given him up for dead.

"I made the first map of the White Pass and the railroad that now does not leave the route that my party followed by more than forty yards at any point," said Slavin.

Slavin has become a Canadian justice of the peace in last years.
Slavin's only son, Frank, Charles Slavin (named after Charlie Mitchell) stands 6 feet 1 1/2 inches, like the elder Slavin. He is a sergeant-major in the Yukon company of the Western Scouts and expects to come to Europe and take a hand in the fighting.

CLUB DAY PROGRAM
IS GREAT SUCCESS

Members of the Country Club Enjoy
Successful Club Day and Dance
Yesterday.

Yesterday's club day at the Janesville Country club proved to be one of the most successful ever held in the history of the organization. All day members of the club were busy taking part in the activities planned by the committee in charge of the day's festivities. In the afternoon bridge and putting contests were conducted for the ladies, and match games for the golfers. At six-thirty a special supper was served to one hundred and eleven people. Mrs.
David Holmes and Miss Carl had charge of the afternoon games and the regular house committee arranged for the evening program.

Between thirty and forty couples
were present in the evening to enjoy the dancing. A three piece orchestra furnished the music for the dance. All the younger members of the club last evening were privileged to invite an outside guest. This added greatly to popularize the evening's dance. So great was the evening's enjoyment that when it came eleven o'clock, the usual closing time, the house committee decided to extend the dance for one hour. This announcement was received with much merriment on the part of the dancers. Much credit is due to the committee in charge yesterday for the success of the weekly club day.

Full Supply of Hot Water.

While boring for oil near Port encountered in such volume at a depth

been found to contain pronounced me-

that baths have been constructed.

Marrying a Butterfly

Ethel Does Not Know That Her Headlong Extravagance Explains Ralph's Longer Working Hours.

"You are not going away again tonight, are you?" asked Ethel Gordon as Ralph took his hat after dinner and started for the door.

"Yes, I have some work to do at the office," said Ralph, trying to speak frankly.

He was naturally so fair and open that the fact that he was keeping something from his wife made him feel and act guilty.

He had been asked to do some outside work, and had eagerly grasped the opportunity to earn some extra money.

It was work that could have been done just as well at home, but after thinking the matter over carefully he had decided not to tell Ethel anything about it.

For he reasoned that if she knew about it, the money would make as all the rest did, and he determined to save at least this extra amount and have it to fall back on in an emergency.

"It is very queer that you have to work three evenings in one week," explained Ethel, as if it was not enough to live in this dead little hole, I must spend my evenings alone besides."

"Oh, this is only a temporary thing," explained Ralph, patting her shoulders.

"I should think if the firm is so carefully in need of your services they might pay you enough to live on."

Her husband tried to draw her lazily. "I suppose you're used to being alone, for you're used to your paper or book and are utterly oblivious of my presence most of the time anyway," but it is a little more tolerable to know that there is someone to speak to, if a great occasion should arise. At least I can see you."

"Oh, come, girlie, you have read in your paint brush tonight for sure," chaffed Ralph, trying to restore her to good nature. It was of no use; she persisted in her angry gloom.

"Don't you want me to take you over to Mrs. Morton's to stay (til I call for you)?" he asked after a pause.

When they went to be together, alone in their home. He loves his wife and does not trump up excuses to leave her alone," replied Ethel bitterly.

"Ethel, why do you say such things to me?" Ralph turned on her fiercely. "You know your insinuations are utterly false." He did not urge her to go to the neighbor's, it might be awkward to explain to the junior partner just why it was necessary for him to leave home to do this work.

able to get home the sooner, and you may be sure I shall get here at the earliest possible moment," continued Ralph after an uncomfortable silence. He stooped to kiss his wife good-bye, but she turned her face away with a hateful gesture. Ralph swung out of the door full of a fierce wrath.

If it does not beat the world," he thought. "Everything I try to do is hindered. I am like a swimmer trying to save someone who weighs him down. She clings around my neck and hampers me so we shall both go down. Why will she make it so hard for me, for herself as well?" If she would only see, but she will not.

Ethel meanwhile was dissolved in tears of self pity.

"Oh, I might be having a lovely time in dear old Milwaukee now, instead of moping here alone. I simply hate this dead little town, and Ralph that I of all people should have this dreadful fate. She went several times into her cubby of a handkerchief. It disfigures one to cry long.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON
Letters may be addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) One night another girl and I went walking with two boys. We took a long walk and I said something to him, a very reasonable question, and he did not hear me or pretended he did not.

It was the first time I ever met him, and he looked like a sensible boy. He only spoke about seven words, the whole evening.

I asked him several questions and he would not answer them. When I left he said good night. I said good night to him. I said good night to him. I said good night to him.

(2) The other boy kept the other girls' ring and when she asked him for it he refused to give it to her. He said she got angry at him and has not spoken to him since. Please tell me a way that she can get it.

(3) If another boy wants to take you for a boat ride where your whole family is present, would it be all right if you brought him with the family or stayed by yourself on the trip?

PEGGY ROSE

(1) Perhaps he is really deaf. I wouldn't expect an apology if I were you. He probably acted natural and doesn't feel he owes an apology.

(2) The girl could sue him for the ring, but if it is not valuable it would not be worth while.

(3) Go with your family and have lunch with them, but feel free to leave them when you have something you want to do.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a boy twenty-four years old and I want to have a church picnic to meet people. I have not lived in this town very long and I do not know many people. There was one girl there that I liked very much and I spent most of my time with her and asked to take her home. She said she and made other arrangements and then saw her and another girl going home. I asked her to wait for me and she said she hated tennis. Then I asked if I could take her to the picture theater some evening, and she said moving pictures hurt her eyes. Where do you think she would like to go? I like her so much that I would like to know her better.

SAM.

Probably you appeared too interested in the girl and she did not like it. Get acquainted with other girls in the church and don't ask her to do anything for awhile. Perhaps then her eyes will be stronger and she won't mind moving pictures.

In reply to D. C. C.: I haven't the remotest idea what the widow's address is and don't know how you can find out.

INTESTINAL INDIGESTION IN CHILDREN.

Chronic intestinal indigestion, called by the baby specialists "chronic flatulency," occurs frequently in children from one to five years of age. The condition is marked by acute attacks of indigestion, in which there is fever, nausea, vomiting, heavy sweating, flushed cheeks, heavy eyelids, and a coated tongue, colicky pains, refusal of food, restlessness, and twitching, perhaps headache.

The child is underweight, peevish, looks pale, and perhaps has dark circles under the eyes. He is easily excited, cross, emotional, hard to console, and prone to amuse, often pampers. Sleep is disturbed by startings, restlessness, nightmare, thirst, bed-wetting, or rumination. Attacks of diarrhoea alternate with constipation. The stools are thin and sometimes slimy.

In fact, about this time, some well-meaning soul is sure to administer a period of worm treatment which only makes him more peevish. Once the trouble is really found worms, but if so, bombarding the child with alleged worm powders or worm lozenges is useless and futile, for a fast, one-dose of worm medicine and one active purge constitute the whole treatment.

Worms.

The child has cold feet and hands and so he doesn't get enough fresh in cold weather, for unfortunately, mothers commonly imagine that the temperature of the air determines the temperature of the body. Indeed, mothers are much like ordinary folk in that, when they go to write a book some day, they go to write a book some day, they go to write a book some day.

Common causes of intestinal indigestion are excess of meat, excess of sugar, irregular hours, irregular meals, poorly cooked cereals, permitting children to remain up past seven at night, excitement in place of rest, called "herbs," the belly band worn to cuddle when it is no longer necessary to retain the navel dressing in place, and the nervous habit of forcing the baby anything and everything the hired man eats.

The first essential in treatment is diet, then regular habits, and then medicine. The diet must be carefully supervised by the doctor, according to the individual condition. Bowel washes often give much relief. "Bowel medicine" children may require strapping or other support for the psoas muscle, and sagging of abdominal organs. The most useless remedies are pepsin and other digestive ferments.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Carcinoma.

What is the cause of carcinoma? Could carcinoma of the bowel be caused by an operation for hemorrhoids performed twelve years previous? How long does it take for this type of cancer to develop?

Answer—The cause of cancer has not yet been discovered. The operation could not cause it. Carcinoma often develops in the rectum, and perhaps piles render the field more vulnerable to carcinoma. A carcinoma develops in a few months, that is, serious disturbance of health occurs in a few months from the beginning of the trouble.

Household Hints

CANNING AND PRESERVING

In canning strawberries save all extra juice to use with currants in making a good jelly.

Canning Strawberries—One cup sugar, not quite a cup of water, three pints strawberries. Let them boil slowly eight minutes. Then put cans in a kettle and let them heat. Then put in berries and close the can. Lay cans on their sides for two days and then turn them upright. The berries and the juice will not come to the top. They will keep their shape and color.

Canning Pineapples—Take one pineapple, medium size, pare into cubes; add one cup of sugar and enough water to cover them. Boil rapidly until soft and put them in cans heated by water, then close the cans. There will be no danger in the cans cracking and the pineapple will stay nice and keep a nice golden color.

Home-made Marshmallows, Cherries—Stoned desired number of cherries, then soak them twenty-four hours in weak vinegar to make them firm. Drain, measure, and allow an equal amount of granulated sugar; mix thoroughly and keep in covered crock or on a wooden board for one week, stirring every day. Seal in glass jars and let stand at least a month before using.

St. Leone Cherries—Use a hairpin. The seeds stay right in the hole. Prongs and leave the cherry in better shape than when a cherry seeder is used; it is much quicker, too.

THE TABLE

Irish Potato With Fish—Six large potatoes, one cup flaked fish, one tablespoon cream, one tablespoon melted butter, one cup cracker crumbs, one-half cup chopped parsley, one-half cup celery. Hollow out each potato while raw (not too deeply), do not pare potato; fill hollow with the above ingredients well mixed together. Bake in moderate oven until crisp. Garnish with parsley. Serve with white sauce.

Baking Powder Biscuits—Two and one-half cups flour, one cup cornstarch, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one tablespoon sugar, three heaping teaspoons baking powder, one tablespoon lard, one egg (well beaten), one cup milk. Place flour, cornstarch, salt, sugar and baking powder in sifter. Beat egg, add melted lard and milk; mix well, then add to former ingredients and place on a floured board. Put out with the hand and with a cake cutter. Place in hot oven and bake ten to fifteen minutes.

Spider Corncake—Sift together three cups cornmeal, one-fourth cup salt, one tablespoon sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon soda. Beat one egg till light, add to it one cup sour milk, two tablespoons melted butter. Turn into well-buttered pan. Pour over it one cup sweet milk. Bake thirty minutes in moderate oven.

Buttermilk Layer Cake—One cup sugar, four size eggs, buttermilk, one cup butter, one egg, two-thirds cup buttermilk or sour milk (if very sour, use part sweet milk), one level teaspoon soda, one level teaspoon baking powder, any flavor. Bake into layers. Use any filling.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING

You will never be bothered with the ribs of your umbrella breaking if you will occasionally put a tiny drop of good machine oil on the joints at the top, bottom and sides of the frame, to prevent rusting. This will keep the cover, as there is a little pat at each jointing that will absorb any superfluous oil.

Salt Saver—After freezing ice cream, place the cracked ice in a bag. When ice has melted you will have nearly as much salt as when you started. You may use this salt many times.

Any one of us might have been a duck. Such very little things determine our paths in life. This duck proposition—that is only a small matter of parentage, and there is hardly anything about which we are so hit and miss as that. We are just as apt to be born in Omaha as in Jersey.

If we are a duck, we dive after bugs and have a fairly good time of it. If persons are our parents, we are apt to write sonnets and not get along nearly so well as if we were busy hunting bugs. Or we are apt to write musical comedies or run a steam shovel.

Did you ever stop to think about a doughnut and the destiny that lies within the narrow circle? Suppose Shakespeare had had a full of doughnuts the first day he tried to write a play. He would have been very stupid and would have said to himself: "Oh, I can't write a play." And the idea might have hung with him forever, and we would not have had any Shakespearean plays to go to in the evening.

Suppose George Washington had been laid up with cucumbers the night he crossed the Delaware. History would have been different, and we might all be British subjects today. Wheat cakes have played their part in history, too. Wheat cakes and adenoids. Maybe Napoleon lost at Waterloo because his shoes hurt his feet. Oh, my!

"A minister ought to perform all marriages; it's more satisfactory to everybody, especially the bride," said Davis. "There hasn't been or won't be any marriages at the city hall so long as I'm mayor. I want to have an untroubled conscience when I leave office."

In previous administrations marriages by the mayor were events in the dull routine of city hall life.

QUEEN ALEXANDRIA VERY GRIEVED AT KITCHENER'S DEATH

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] London, June 28.—Perhaps none outside his immediate family were more grief-stricken at the news of Lord Kitchener's tragic death than Queen Alexandra. The attentiveness of the Queen-Mother had long been notable, and there was a very strong bond of sympathy between these two, undoubtedly two of the most illustrious figures in contemporary history.

Indeed there was something pathetic in the lonely bachelorhood of the War Secretary, who occasionally to his intimates dropped remarks bearing on his lack of home and near relatives. Not a week passed during the war in which he has not paid a visit to Malborough house, where he would spend long visits with Queen Alexandra and her family.

Lists of those combatants of whom he liked best were kept in his study. However pressing the demands of the war, he would always return within a few days with the desired information.

Lord Kitchener had promised to be the Queen-Mother's guest during the coming summer at Sandringham. He constantly had ladies to lunch at his seat in Kent, Bromley hall, near Canterbury, on Sundays, and would show them how he was developing his gardens and dilate to them on the beauties of his china. Younger women were conspicuous by their absence at these times, the guests being chiefly ladies and experts on gardening as well as wives of men who had served under him in various campaigns.

At York house, St. James palace, he gave a number of dinner parties to men only, the military element being not always conspicuous at these. He liked doctors, though cared nothing for actors or musicians. Several of the higher clergy of London enjoyed his friendship and hospitality.

Lord Kitchener was personally well known to the owners of many of the more expensive curiosity shops in London. He would bargain over purchases, but did not possess the compulsion of every young girl is supposed to look her best in her simple white dress.

And yet not one girl in fifty looks as well in white as she does in the right color.

I went to a graduation the other day and marvelled that among twenty graduates there was not one thoroughly pretty girl.

A day or two later I saw those same girls at a reception. They were dressed in afternoon dresses of various colors, and several looked attractive and one or two thoroughly pretty. And then it came to me that before they had been handicapped by white dresses.

Black is Sometimes Less Trying

Conversely, black is not half so unbecoming as it is popularly supposed to be. A black gown generously relieved by white about the throat is becoming to almost anyone, and the right kind of black in a hat is often easier to wear than white.

Right colors are the most trying, and yet people who would think of wearing black unhesitatingly wear such trying shades as rose and cerise.

We can't all be pretty, but we can all be as pretty as we can. And I think "know thyself" means know your style and the colors you can wear as well as your other powers and abilities.

PLAINNESS UNADORNED

Opposite me on the car the other day sat a rather plain woman. She had harsh features and she wore thick glasses.

And how do you suppose she was dressed?

A suit of a light color and striking cut, a yellow silk blouse, a flower garden hat, a string of blue beads and a white scarf.

Can you imagine any combination of clothing more unfortunate for that type of woman?

Poor lady, she probably knew she was plain and thought to alleviate that plainness by the elaborateness of her toilet. And instead she only called attention to it and made it infinitely worse.

It Takes a Pretty Woman to Wear Fussy Clothes

It takes a very pretty woman to wear clothes of that sort and yet everywhere you see plain women who make the mistake of dressing themselves up in fussy clothes.

It's just as foolish as it is to try to long for the bad lines of a gown by a slasher of trimming.

Plain people look best in plain clothes.

I longed to get hold of that woman and tell her in a plain tailored suit, probably a dark blue simple white blouse, and a close hat, carefully selected to suit the lines of her face. She would not have been pretty even then, but she would have been a much more agreeable object to look at.

What strange ideas people do have about the kind of clothes that become

This first advertisement has grown into scores, dealing with a wide field of subjects, from pleas for army volunteers and loans of money, to condemnation of extravagance in the purchase of too many boots and stockings by my lady. It is said that there is scarcely a home in the British Isles that has not been reached by some of the display advertisements which have been kept running in fifteen hundred newspapers and spread on myriads of billboards. After nearly two years of experiment official emphatically declare that it pays for a government to advertise. It is estimated by some that millions of dollars have been raised in loans in this way and that nearly five million recruits have been drawn to the colors by the printed appeals.

"Tell out, that!" he ordered. "What did we tell you to say?" As he drew near Tarp's store, Abner saw the merchant putting half a dozen of the front pages of the paper on the outside of a plate glass show window.

"Hey, what's this?" Abner asked, delighted, as he panned, his hands in the pockets of his trousers. "Stealin' our thunder, eh?"

"Yes," Tarp's eyes gleamed oddly. "It is big piece of news, Uncle Ab. It may shorten your sale on the street a little to have it stuck up for so many to read for nothing, but it will draw attention to the bargains in the window. Folks are bound to stop to look, and my boys will invite 'em in."

"Have you read it clean through?" Abner inquired.

"Have I? Oh, yes, yes. I wasn't too busy for that, and I'm here to state, Uncle Ab, that it is simply great."

"Yes, good piece of news," Abner agreed. "Just look down the street. Tarp is a bunch of folks readin' it in every store door an' on every corner. Look! Tarp goes a nigger on a drag with his kiddy head buried in it."

"It is not only the news, but—the thing is got up in the shape, if I am any judge," Tarp ventured to remark as his eyes swept Abner's features approvingly.

All the way down to the warehouse at the end of the street, whither Abner now strolled, he saw excited faces bending over the wonderful story. Abner recognized an old war comrade.

"By gum, Bill Spriggs!" Abner chuckled. "An' from Elktown too! I wonder what fresh news he may have? The gold may be found by this time. Hello, Spriggs, how are you?"

"How goes it with you, Ab?"

"Oh, so-so," Abner responded. "Anything new over your way?"

"Nothing at all, Ab. We are as dead as a doornail at Elktown. It is dryin' up an' blowin' away one of these days. We did have some excitement 'other day, though."

"Oh, you did?" Abner's face kindled expectantly. "You were in it, of course."

"No, thank God, I wasn't. In fact, nobody was in it at the time it was struck."

"Struck? What was struck?" Abner cried.

"Why, the Methodist meetin' house. The members had been debatin' on buyin' lightning rods—old members for an' young ones a-gin it—when the storm came. It was terrible, Ab."

Abner stood like a man drifting into stupidity. "Nothin' else has happened over there, then, except the storm an' the meetin' house? I mean, of course, within the last three days."

"As for news, I can't think of a thing just now. That is a big excitement in our neighborhood."

"Oh, that is?" Abner saw the straw and clutched it.

"Yes, but it don't seem to me to be the sort of thing you'd care to print. That is a big talk about churchin' old Peter Tomlinson. It is whispered about that he slipped up when 'Jim Barnett had been slippin' fence rails an' stole 'em."

"Then you hadn't heard any other news over your way?"

"Nothin' else, Ab. An' if I was in your place I believe I'd not mention Peter's name nuther!"

"No, I'll keep that out. In fact, I won't mention the darn thing at all. Well, I'm much obliged, Bill."

"Sold!" Abner said under his breath as he walked away. "Some skunk over at Elktown is laughin' good at us. By gum! He tack me in; he sure did."

"I think I see where we made a mistake," Miss Swayne spoke up. "We ought not to have let Frank know we had a piece of news. Of course he went right out to see if anything was floatin' about."

"It don't matter—it don't matter a dang bit!" Abner growled. He picked up the New Clarion and with a look of high disgust began to scan the Elktown article.

"Jackass, jackass!" he said to himself and of himself. "Of course there ain't no such a man as Thomas L. Keith over there; that's made up out of whole cloth like the balance. Let me see; where is them dang letters so much he made of? Here they are:

"T. D. G. A. G. M. E. S. M. S. D. Abner went over them slowly, one by one. Suddenly he looked up from the paper, stared steadily at Howard and asked:

"Do you happen to remember what number on Main street Tarp's store is at?"

"Eighty-five," Howard answered. "It's been printed often enough."

With a grim face and steady stride, Abner went to a window and looked down on the street below.

"Tarp's Dry Goods and General Merchandise Emporium, 85 Main Street, Elktown," he muttered. "That's the article he wanted to run in at 3 cents a line, an' I held out for 10. Tarp, old boy, I ain't got on my hat just now, but I had it or so?"

Howard looked up at him and asked: "Have you read it clean through?"

"Have I? Oh, yes, yes. I wasn't too busy for that, and I'm here to state, Uncle Ab, that it is simply great."

"Yes, good piece of news," Abner agreed. "Just look down the street. Tarp is a bunch of folks readin' it in every store door an' on every corner. Look! Tarp goes a nigger on a drag with his kiddy head buried in it."

"Sold!" Abner said under his breath as he walked away. "Some skunk over at Elktown is laughin' good at us. By gum! He tack me in; he sure did."

"Great excitement over at Elktown. Since the first settlement of Georgia, no greater sensation has been sprung on the rather nice, even in the summer time, for it is cool and well shaded."

With some vague misgivings, the nature of which Howard hardly understood, he accepted the invitation.

"You will meet my father, too, I hope," Cora continued. "He is taking his meals at the club; but if he is not overwhelmed with business he will join us at lunch. He is a very nice man, if I do say it," she added, with a smile; "he is rather stern in his manner even with mother and me, but he is a dear, dear man."

Howard had to do some early morning work at the office the next day, and so did not meet the Langhams till just before their departure at 8 o'clock.

He joined them in the observation car at the end of the train, where they had secured comfortable seats.

The journey was pleasant enough to the young couple. Howard was discovering a side to Cora's nature that was new to him, and he was not rebelling so strongly against her attractions.

He was half convinced that he had misjudged her in regard to her hunger for the admiration of men, and, after all, he began to ask himself, who could know positively that a confirmed flirt might not love some particular man as strongly and as unselfishly as any other woman?

At any rate, the bare thought that she might actually care for him was an attractive one.

"The carriage will meet us," Cora informed Howard, as he got her things together. "James is always prompt and will be anxious to see us. We have luncheon at 2 o'clock. It is now 11, and you may go directly home with us if you wish," Cora added, as they came out of the car and joined the throng of passengers going toward the door leading to the street. "There will be plenty of room in the carriage."

"There is something I must attend to at once," Howard answered. "I think I had better come over later. I might miss the man I expect to see if I wait till the afternoon."

"You would if we had our way about it," Cora answered sweetly. "Once we get you out home we will keep you as long as possible."

The driver, a middle aged colored man, wore a silk hat and a long, dark blue coat with brass buttons, and as he reached for the satchels Howard carried he doffed his hat and bowed servilely to the ladies.

"Why didn't Mr. Langham come?" Mrs. Langham asked, as they all followed the driver to the resplendent vehicle and well groomed boys at the edge of the sidewalk.

"Peril From Forest Fires. Forest fires are so severe on the Pacific coast that the smoke floating upon the ocean is a peril to navigation."

"He's already paid me," Abner retorted. "He's give me a million dollars' worth of experience. Yes, boys, we've got to grin. A good, healthy, forgiving grin is the only cure for a disease like our'n. He's got us what the hair is short. We've got a chance to make folks think we took the stuff as an ad. an' got paid for it. But, in' ef we kick one single bit we'll never hear the end of it."

"I don't know what my papers will say to me," Frank Raymond growled. "I'm expected to send in facts and nothing but facts. Now I'll have to wire 'em that it was all a fake."

"If you don't the railroads may run some excursions up that way," Abner said. "I'd sorter hate to have the mayor and city council of Atlanta startin' fer Elktown with campin' outfit and minin' tools."

Howard's place at the table in the hotel was next to Mrs. Langham and her daughter. He found Cora alone at dinner one day.

"I have a surprise for you," she smiled. "And it may not be a pleasant one either. Do you still intend to go to Atlanta tomorrow?"

"Yes, I have some business Mr. Daniel wants me to attend to, and I have postponed it as long as I can. What is your surprise?"

"Why, I was telling mother about your going, and it really put her in the notion of running down on the same day. We have some shopping to do, and she wants to have a look at her flowers, which she is afraid our housekeeper may be neglecting. We would be there only a day and night, and then come back here."

"I am glad you are going," Howard said. "It will make the trip much more pleasant, for I don't care much for Atlanta in the warm weather."

"You must take luncheon with us when we arrive tomorrow," Cora said. "Mother has set her heart on it. She has already written to our housekeeper to have everything ready. You've never been to our home, and it is really rather nice, even in the summer time, for it is cool and well shaded."

With some vague misgivings, the nature of which Howard hardly understood, he accepted the invitation.

Perfect Health is Every Woman's Birthright.

A Temperance Remedy That From Girlhood to Old Age Has Been a Blessing to Womanhood.

When a girl becomes a woman, when a woman becomes a mother, when a woman passes through the changes of middle life, are the three periods of life when health and strength are most needed to withstand the pain and distress often caused by severe organic disturbances.

At these critical times women are best fortified by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, an old remedy of proved worth that keeps the entire female system perfectly regulated and in excellent condition.

Not a patent medicine because this old prescription of Dr. Pierce's has its ingredients published on wrapper.

Mothers, if your daughters are weak, lack ambition, are troubled with headaches, lassitude and are pale and sickly, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is just what they need to surely bring the bloom of health to their cheeks and make them strong and healthy.

For all diseases peculiar to woman, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a powerful restorative. During the last 40 years it has banished from the lives of tens of thousands of women the pain, worry, misery and distress caused by irregularities and diseases of a feminine character.

If you are a sufferer, if your daughter, mother, sister need help, get Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription in liquid or tablet form from any medicine dealer to-day. Then address Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive confidential advice that will not cost you a penny. To-day is the day, 100-page book on woman's diseases sent free—Adv.

Lem Cotton, sole proprietor of a whitewashing emporium in a southern town, shone in the noonday sun as though he had given his skin a coat of stove polish. As he toiled away at the task of lighting up the judge's stable, the judge himself came along.

"How do, counsel, how do?" said Lem. "How 'at with you today?" "Nothing new today," replied his honor. "Which side you-all on, counsel?" asked the whitewasher. The judge, scenting an opportunity for some amusement, answered: "Have you ever heard of the great 'neutral' people, Lem?"

"Well, I'm neutral," Lem never batted an eye as he answered. "Es' em neutrals' great fightin's? Ah hope 'em win."

Shortly after Sir Edward Carson has relinquished the post of solicitor general he was speaking of the methods of examining candidates for the service and told the following story: "I had a son who went through that ordeal and when it was over asked him what had been said to him. A lot of dots," he replied. "They asked me if my father was the solicitor general and when I said that they asked me why I didn't follow in his footsteps. I told them that I might take that up after I had failed at this job."

In the Early Stages of Tuberculosis

your chances for defeating this dreaded affection depend largely on your ability to restore normal body functions.

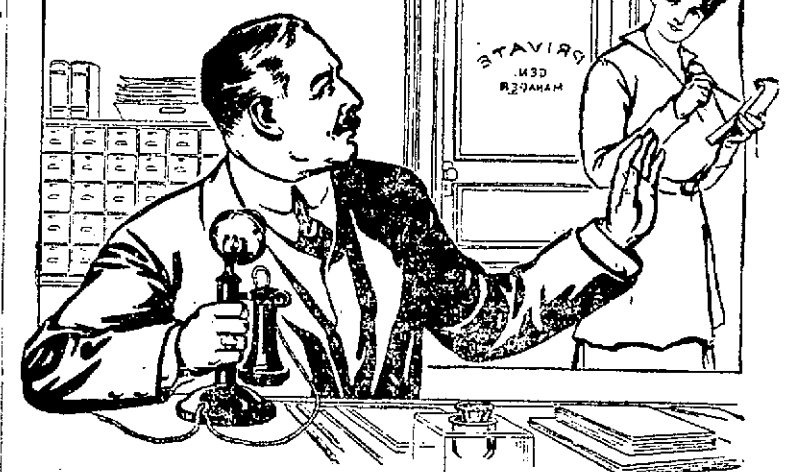

To do this, one requirement is proper attention to diet and pure food. Also rest and fresh air, day and night.

Where the system is run down and likelihood of serious consequences thus increased, Eckman's Alternative may prove beneficial, as it has in many cases.

This is a time treatment—but unlike any other. For here the time content is so combined with other ingredients as to be easily assimilated by the average person.

A trial can do no harm, since Eckman's Alternative contains no poisonous or habit-forming drugs. At your druggist's.

WEAKENED CUBS WIN TWO FROM PIRATES

Chicago Nationals Can Win Games Without Zimmerman—White Sox Beat Indians—Cobb in Another Brawl.

Chicago's Cubs scored a double victory over Pittsburgh Tuesday, winning the first game 1 to 0 and coping a batting test by the count of 10 to 4 in the second game. Predrag and Cobb pitched the first game and both were in excellent form. A home run by Saier, over the wall in the second inning, was the only score made. Predrag fanned eight men, allowed only three hits and only one Pirate reached second base.

Successful use of the squeeze play aided the Cubs in the second game when they ran away with the Pirates. Seaton started pitching but Predrag was called up again to finish the game, when Seaton wobbled.

The White Sox defeated Cleveland, 4 to 2, in a pitchers' battle in which Williams had the better of Bagby, holding Cleveland to six hits, three of which were made in the ninth inning. Jackson's batting won the game for the Sox, knocking out a home, two doubles, scoring three runs. One thousand militia men attended the game, the guests of the Cleveland club.

New York made five out of six from Washington, winning by the score of 3 to 2 at New York. Baker's home run with one on the base line decided the game. Baker hit three home runs during the series and his batting as rapidly bringing the Yankees to within striking distance of Cleveland.

New York and Brooklyn broke even in their series, when Tetreau won a pitching duel from Delf, 1 to 0. The Giants scored their one run in the first inning and thereafter both pitchers were unhit.

Detroit and St. Louis divided a double header at St. Louis, the latter winning the first game 5 to 3, and the Tigers winning the last, 5 to 2. The first game was stopped in the ninth inning when Cobb attempted to climb into the stand to reach a fan whom he claimed used abusive language to him. He was prevented from engaging in a fight with the patron of the park by the police.

Babe Ruth may supply the punch missing in the Red Sox since the departure of the lamented Speaker. Manager Bill Carrigan has about de-

OMAHA SPEED RACE HAS ATTRACTED STAR PILOTS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Omaha, June 28.—The following well known drivers have entered for the 300-mile automobile race which is to be run July 15, at the Omaha speedway: Daria Resta, Ralph de Palma, Earl Cooper, Wilbur d'Alene, Tommy Milton, Ralph Mulford, Ira Vail, Charles Devlin, and C. Thompson. The management expects to sign but a dozen more.

Joe Steiner, the wrestling champion, has offered a special $100 prize for the driver making the fastest lap in the race.

GIANTS SIGN TWO STAR COLLEGE PITCHERS TUESDAY

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, June 28.—Pie Way of Yale and George Smith of Columbia, right hand pitchers, have signed with the New York Giants. The proposed trade of Pitcher Tetreau for Pitcher Saltee of St. Louis has been declared off.

WORLD'S BEST SWIMMERS WILL RACE AT DETROIT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Detroit, June 28.—Some of the fastest swimmers in the United States are to compete at the A. A. U. junior and senior championships, at Puchin Bay, Ohio, the week of July 16. Four Chicago clubs have entered their stars.

BROCK WILL BOX CAL DELANEY ON THE FOURTH

OLD TIME BALL PLAYERS MAY PLAY AGAIN AT DETROIT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Detroit, June 28.—Two teams of old time ball players will probably play an exhibition game at Navin field during the third week of July. Plans for the contest have been under way for some time. Former major league players, now living in various parts of the country, will participate, according to present plans. If the game proves a success it may be played each year and it is understood that New York wants next year's contest.

PITCHER WINS A GAME AS HE IS ABOUT TO BE CANNED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Detroit, June 28.—Arrangements are being made to send Pitcher Erickson, of the Detroit Americans, to one of the clubs in the Southern association. Cunningham was slated to go but he won another chance with the Tigers by pitching a fine game recently.

TWO NEW PITCHERS HAVE BEEN BOUGHT BY INDIANS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Cleveland, June 28.—Two new pitchers have been brought up from the bushes by the Cleveland club—Dana Phillips, star twirler of the South Atlantic league, and John Ferguson, from Portsmouth in the Ohio State league.

Sport Snap Shots MORRIS MILLER

The New York Yankees have a pitching prospect under cover who will be a wonder according to Frank Baker. His name is Jack Enright, and he pitched in Pennsylvania independent circles last season. Before that he played ball with a college team at Chestertown, Md. Manager Donovan has sent him to Newark of the international league for seasoning.

Dick Kinsella, premier of scouts, who is now with the Yankees and expects to keep the liberal owners of

KILLIFER BIG HELP TO PHIL PITCHERS

Bill Killifer.

Bill Killifer, the Phillies' veteran catcher, was put on the inactive list last fall when his arm weakened and it was thought that he would never be able to appear regularly in the line-up thereafter. But this spring when both Burns and Adams were in poor shape Manager Moran tried Killifer again and was astonished to see the effect on the team.

that club off lemons, met Captain Houston of the New Yorkers in St. Louis and told him what his team needs and does not need. Kinsella was an official of the Democratic National Convention in St. Louis the middle of June. As soon as he was done with politics he hit the road for the Yanks. He expects to buy about three players, but says those three will be real ones.

Jack Bradley, catcher of the University of Illinois team, who has been signed by Cleveland, is said to be the best player developed at the Illinois school since the days of Jake Stahl. Pitcher W. W. Gunkel is another Illinois collegian signed by Cleveland. The pair made up the Illinois crack battery this year.

Jimmy Lavender was highly pleased that Benny Kauff made a scratch hit off him in the game he pitched against the Giants. Jimmy pitched a no-hit game last season and then just eight straight, so he feared the hoodoo of a hitless performance.

Pitcher Fred Anderson of the Giants had a winning record of six games straight when the Chicago Cubs gave him an awful lambasting. Previous to that the Cincinnati Reds had hit him pretty hard and as a result his stock is rather below par.

Outfielder Willie Zimmerman, turned back by Oakland to Brooklyn and announced as transferred to Toronto, has been shifted to Hartford in the Eastern league instead.

Mike Doolan's appeal to John McGraw was not in vain. The former shortstop objected to going to Atlanta, to which club the Chicago Cubs had ordered him and asked McGraw for a job, and John J. taking pity, put him on the pay Pirates last whether or not the plan is for Mike to succeed Arthur Fletcher or not is not stated, but everybody is entitled to a guess.

It developed last week that the Pittsburgh club had secured waivers on First Baseman Doc Johnston, though no deal for his transfer to the minors seems to have been completed. It is the plan of Manager Callahan, according to reports, to put Hans Wagner on first base. Johnston has not been hitting at all this season, though he is as fast as ever in his fielding.

The wisdom of giving Grover Alexander a rest was shown in his game against Pittsburgh, his first appearance on the mound in ten days, when he pitched one of the greatest games out in the ninth only two Pirates had reached first base on him. It is said by Philadelphia scribes that he probably made a record for small number of pitches to batters. No count was kept of the first two innings, but in the last seven he threw but four balls. Matty is supposed to hold the record with sixty-three and it is guessed that Alex threw less than sixty.

The Boston Braves have another outfielder. He is Fred Bailey. Mike Kaboe dug him up for Stalings, out of Washington and Lee University. He was ordered to report to the Braves in Boston and got into the hotel occupied by the Cincinnati Reds instead and boarded there for a while day at Garry Hermann's expense. The Reds say that if he can play ball likes he eats he will be a wonder.

How is your DIGESTION? fine—if you drink BEER!

THERE is no doubt about it—BEER is a wonderful beverage. Note what Dr. Jonathan Pereira, recognized authority, says: "Beer possesses a four-fold property; it quenches thirst, stimulates, nourishes and strengthens. Beer proves a refreshing and salubrious drink if taken in moderation, and an agreeable and valuable stimulant."

Those who drink beer moderately every day unhesitatingly endorse Dr. Pereira's statement. That is why they drink BEER, and that is why

You Should Drink Beer

A moderate amount each day is good for you. More people are using beer today than ever before—they find it is a nutritious thirst quencher and an aid to digestion.

VALUE OF TRUE FRIENDSHIP

Beware That Person Who Avoids His Acquaintances When They Are Ready to Help Him.

A man's friends ought to be his fortifications in time of distress, and they usually are. At any rate, when you find a man in trouble who is afraid to go to his friends, or those who ought to be his friends because he has lived with them and worked with them, there is good reason to be suspicious. Especially is this true if he is asking strangers for relief. There is, you may be sure, something in his life that he is ashamed of—some habit or some action that he knows is sufficient to alienate those who know him best.

We are all liable to misfortune, but if we have done our best there is nothing to be ashamed of. We can look those who best know us squarely in the face, tell them our story and confidently expect that the helping hand will be given. That is the way, thank God, that men and women are constructed. They admire the strong, but they are sympathetic with those whom adverse circumstances have overborne. They would rather see a worthy man thrive than bid him go in want. They like to know that a man has done his best, and they are willing to help that he may do his best, even if his failure has come through some fault of his own. But there is not much for them to hope for in a man who avoids those who know him and asks help only of strangers. He may say he is too proud to tell them he is in straits. But he is deceiving himself; it is not pride, but shame, that moves him.

TAKE AN EFFICIENT SHAVE
 Usual Method is Full of Lost Motions and Wasted Time—Many Needless Flourishes.

One of the most fantastic persons in the world is the public official who, before he can write a postal order or a tax receipt, has to make preliminary curls of penmanship in the air. Observed by the scientific eye, we are more fantastic ourselves. If our effective motions could be registered on a visual target, our record would be found to resemble that of savages who use ammunition without a sight on their guns. If we think that the ordinary soldier's marksmanship is wasteful, we may well look to ourselves. Our life is peppered with motions that fly wide and wild. It begins on awaking. We ought to utilize that gesture for polishing our shoes. We should rub our eyes on Sunday for the rest of the week. But it is in processes like shaving that scientific management is really needed. Men flatter themselves that they shave with the minimum of gesture. They believe that they complete the operation under five minutes. But, excusing their inaccuracy, do they know that under the inspection of the scientific manager their performance would look as jagged as their razor blade under the microscope? The day will probably arrive when a superman will shave with one superb motion, as delightful to the soul as the uncurling of an orange skin in one long unbroken peel.

Youth's Privilege.
 Youth is the time to store up knowledge. If not gained before the day of special need, it can seldom be secured after one feels the lack of it. As a quaint old proverb puts it: "What Master Jacky does not learn, Mr. John never knows."
